COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

Mrs. Young, who has been town clerk and secretary in the Town Office has submitted her resignation from the position effective Aug. 5. She has worked for the town several years, and will be missed by both officials and townspeople.

The Water District which reads their meters personally once a year during the month of July is experiencing difficulty finding homeowners at home. There are still many who have not received their bills for that reason. There is a change in the rate structure in the July billing. The PUC granted an increase effective July 1. This does not effect the sewer charge. The base water rate will increase approximately 9%.

If at all possible those who may wish to attend Selectmen's meetings on a specific subject should notify the office so they can be placed on the agenda. This gives everyone involved a chance to be notified and any information needed to be prepared. Many times this could prevent a second meeting on the same subject.

SINGERS WANTED FOR BI-CENTENNIAL CONCERT TO BE HELD AUG. 24

A chorus of mixed voices is being organized to take part in a special concert of music by American composers which will be presented in the Congregational Church on Sunday evening, Aug. 24. This program, the second event to be sponsored by the Bethel Bicentennial Committee, will feature American music from colonial times to the present.

The concert will be under the direction of Professor Edward H. Hastings of Curry College, Milton, Mass. A long-time summer resident of Bethel, Mr. Hastings is director of the Milton Choral Society and organist and choir-master of the First Parish Church (Unitarian).

Among the composers whose works will be performed are William Selby, first organist of King's Chapel, and William Billings, the Boston tanner who is usually regarded as America's first serious composer.

The first of three chorus rehearsals will be held Thursday, July 31, at 8 p. m. in the West Parish Congregational Church, with succeeding rehearsals on Aug. 14 and 21. Those who wish to take part in the concert will be expected to attend at least two of these rehearsals. A cordial invitation is extended to residents of Bethel and neighboring communities to sing in this program of music for the Bicentennial year. If you like to sing, plan to attend the first rehearsal on July 31.

THIRD ANNUAL MAINE OPEN WOODSMEN'S CHAMPIONSHIPS ARE SUCCESSFUL

The third annual Maine Open Woodmen's Championships got off to a fast start on Mollycodd Day as announcer "Fearless" Fred Burke started the show with the fast moving chainsaw steeplechase.

Eleven of the thirteen contestants ran the four station, eight-cut steeplechase in under 35 seconds. Ira Stevens, Perkinsville, Vt., completed it in a lightning 22.3 seconds, a full 6.1 seconds ahead of second place winner Ron Johnson, Jewett City, Conn., who was a mere .4 of a second ahead of Ray Putvain, Hardwick, Vt.

One could very easily see the contrast between the logging of yesterday and today during the second event of the day. The two man log rolling is indeed a test of not only skill but sheer endurance. Under the hot sun the nine two man teams pulled, pushed, struggled, and sweated to get that huge pine log from one set of stakes to another 12 feet away, and then back to the first set of stakes again. As soon as the men would get the log rolling that piece of fibre and bark would balk and test the wits of the biggest, the smallest and the cleverest of the lumberjacks. When the battle was over, only two of the nine teams had finished the course in under two minutes. Alan Chapman, Bethel, and partner Ira Stevens, Perkinsville, Vt., finished in one minute 17.9 seconds. Six and one-tenth seconds behind them were the tobacco chewing bearded boys, Rus VanHazinga, Fitchburg, Mass., and Phil Cayford, Freedom, N. H. Bob Hoffman and Don Dollover, Calais, Vt., took only 7 of a second longer than two minutes for the third place ribbon. Watching from his place above the ground, Malcolm Gross, Hanover, re-set the log after each team with his hydraulic loader in a record fast time averaging 20 seconds.

One of the events that brought back memories of the days before chainsaws and skidders was the bucksaw contest. Each contestant took one cut off a 10"x10" sawn white pine timber. Fifteen contestants did this in times ranging from 29.9 seconds to Matthew Sullivan's time of 9.4 seconds. Matthew is from Canton, Mass. Bob Hoffman, Calais, Vt., did his cut in 9.5 seconds, only .1 behind Matthew. Pete McGivney, Hempstead, N. Y., took only 10.5 seconds to do his cut and got the third place ribbon.

For the third consecutive year the audience got to see World Champion Sven Johnson and his son, Ron, Jewett City, Conn., literally melt through two cuts off the 10"x10" timber with their cross-cut saw in under 9.6 seconds. This year they did it in 9.4 seconds. Rus Van Hazinga, Fitchburg, Mass., and Phil Cayford, Freedom, N. H., were right on their heels with 10.6 seconds.

As soon as the supersaws start up a certain air of tension surrounded on Page Ten Who's trying to fool Mother Nature? A duck at the Batty Bird Barn has hatched out a chicken along with her ducklings. This being the only mother he has known, he is determined to keep up no matter what. When the rest went into the pond, Chicken Little flew from rock to rock until there were no more then jumped in and started swimming upstream behind the others. He was still paddling when Irene rescued him so we may never know if a chicken can really swim any length of time or not.

A street sweeper attached to a tractor went up and back on the Irish Neighborhood Road in a cloud of dust Tuesday morning.

The directors approved the transfer of A. James Fiske from the mathematics to the science department at Telstar for the 1975-76 academic year.

The board voted to reemploy Robert Remington as a member of Telstar math department for 1975-76. (This supercedes board action of July 7, naming Mr. Remington to an intermediate position at the Woodstock Elementary School.)

Bruce Buckland was reemployed as a member of the Telstar English department for the 1975-76 year.

The board accepted with regrets the resignations of Norman Emery, social studies at Telstar, and Richard Prescott, business education at Telstar. Mr. Prescott has accepted a position at Oxford Hills High School.

Approval was granted for the transfer of Peter Brown to social studies from the English department at Telstar.

The nomination of Mrs. Jane Chandler as teacher of Home Economics at Telstar was placed before the board by Basil E. Kinney, superintendent of schools. The board voted to defer action on this nomination until an executive session could be held.

Following an executive session, action on Mrs. Chandler's nomination was postponed until the Aug. 4 meeting of the board.

The nomination of Mrs. Nancy Davis as a grade two teacher at the Ethel Blisbee School failed to receive the nine votes required for approval. (Statutes require that a majority of the entire board must favor any nomination of personnel. Of the 17 members of the S. A. D. 44 panel, seven were absent Monday evening.)

No further nominations were made by Mr. Kinney at the Monday meeting.

Board members absent Monday evening were: Leon Akers, Philip Morales, Gerald Schachter, Andover; John Gasser, Patricia Hudson, Michael O'Donnell, Bethel; Milton Mills, Woodstock.

The next regular meeting of the S. A. D. 44 board will be held at the Telstar auditorium on Monday evening, Aug. 4, at 7:30.

EUGENE KELLY WINNER OF MOLLYCOKETT GROCERY HAUL SATURDAY

Eugene Kelly of Bethel, was the winner of the Great Mollycokett Day Grocery Haul sponsored by the Bethel Democrats. The food basket was prepared by SAGA Foods manager John Rayne and staff. Diane Saunders was the person selling the most tickets prior to Mollycokett Day. Kay McMillin, Wendy Rice and Celia Gorman all reached their ticket sale quota.

Mike O'Donnell was the balloonman of the day. Sue O'Donnell was responsible for the watermelon concession and Cathy Newell for the Mollycokett Day sale of raffle tickets.

The "Gold Strike" proved very popular with the 5-8 year olds and will be offered again on an expanded basis next year.

It was a profitable and enjoyable day for the Bethel Democratic Committee. The next meeting will be Aug. 16, an evening picnic at the Songo Pond cottage of Rep. Emily Saunders.

WCBB PLANNING ANNUAL AUCTION FOR NEXT SPRING - SEEKING VOLUNTEERS

The search began recently in Lewiston for volunteer publicists to promote the fifth annual Auction 10, according to Judy Loper, volunteer publicity chairman for WCBB.

"Auction 10 is slated for April 2-11, 1976 and the preceding months require many local volunteers to promote the fund-raising event," she said.

Mrs. Loper is asking for fellow volunteers to work in their local communities. These volunteers will be working with their local newspapers, TV and radio stations as well as other aspects of publicity.

The local community representatives are the people who bring the facts about Auction 10 to their area and play a big part in making this event a success.

This will be the fifth annual Auction 10 with a goal of $100,000 in auction revenues which will provide a significant part of Channel 10's operating budget.

"No experience is necessary," emphasized Mrs. Loper. "Anyone interested in volunteering to help with publicity for this community minded activity should contact me in Norway at 743-6226 or call the Auction office in Lewiston at 763-9101."

NEED PROOF OF EXISTENCE? CENSUS BUREAU CAN HELP

Was your birth registered? Unless you have documentation you'll get nowhere protesting as Will Rogers once did: "I can't prove I was born, but you can't deny I'm here."

A total of 320,899 persons in the United States who found themselves in that predicament in 1974 turned to the U. S. Bureau of Census for help. (The Bureau is part of the U. S. Department of Commerce's Social and Economic Statistics Administration.)

More than two-thirds of applicants receiving help from the Census Bureau in 1974 lived in 11 southern states: Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, Louisiana, Virginia, Arkansas, Florida and Texas.

Persons unable to obtain a birth certificate may have been born before 1920, before birth registration became mandatory in every state. Or their birth record may have been accidentally destroyed by flood or fire, or simply never recorded. Or they may have been unable to obtain a delayed birth certificate because they couldn't lay their hands on acceptable evidence of their birth such as a baptismal certificate, a family bible in which their birth was chronicled, or an affidavit from the attending doctor or midwife.

Every ten years ending in zero, as you know, the Bureau of the Census takes a population census, gathering facts about every human being in the country. Realizing how valuable this information might be to anybody called upon to prove his existence, the Bureau wisely established its Personal Census Service Branch, more commonly known as the Age Search Branch, which will send anyone who applies for it a transcript of his own census record from the census year that will best serve his needs.

For example, a man born in 1905 who wants certification of age would probably be sent a copy of his census record from the decennial census of 1910. The record would not contain his birth date but it would show him as having been five years old in 1910, which is just as good. He can then present this record as supporting evidence when applying to the State in which he was born for a delayed birth certificate. Or he can use it in lieu of a birth certificate. Census records are now accepted

UMO DEAN'S LIST STEADILY GROWING

The Dean's List, the University of Maine at Orono's student scholastic honor roll, continues to grow. Latest tabulations from UM O Office of the Registrar shows that 2,615 undergraduates and graduate students at the Orono campus and at Bangor Community College attained Dean's List status during the spring, 1975, semester.

This number is approximately as a substitute by all Federal and State agencies and by virtually all of private industry.

Since 1920, when the Age Search Branch was established, nearly 10 million persons have taken advantage of this unique service. Currently, approximately 350,000 requests are received annually, a total that comes to about 1,300 daily.

People write in for documentary evidence of age for reasons of employment, retirement, driver's license, insurance, military service, income tax, marriage, voter registration, welfare benefits, even little League Baseball—anything that requires evidence of age. The Social Security Administration and the Railroad Retirement Board Agency both place great reliance on census records, and they assist many persons each year in obtaining acceptable evidence of age through census records.

Census records can also give evidence of citizenship for passport purposes, of occupation (for example black lung benefits for coal miners), and of relationship for estates or inheritances, insurance, DAR membership, family records, and other genealogical purposes.

All information in census records is confidential by law. The Bureau of the Census and every one of its employees is prohibited by Federal law from disclosing any information contained in the census records except to the person himself, or for a proper purpose, to a legal representative.

Information about a minor child may be obtained upon written request of either parent. For records pertaining to a deceased person, the application may be signed by a blood relative in the immediate family, the surviving spouse, a beneficiary, or the administrator or executor of the estate and in all cases, a death certificate must be furnished.

A fee of $7.50 is charged for a search of two censuses and a transcript of the information found. Additional copies of the transcript cost $1.00 each. Service generally requires two to four weeks. A fee is charged because the Age Search Branch is fully self-supporting. It does not receive any tax monies.

Persons needing proof of age for Social Security purposes should apply to their local Social Security office. Others should write to the Personal Census Service Branch, Bureau of the Census, Pittsburgh, Kansas 65672, for an application form.

PUBLIC TELEVISION MOVIE TO FEATURE MAINE'S ALLAGASH REGION

Maine's Allagash Wilderness Region will be one of the "stars" featured in a public television movie special to be released in the fall.

A film crew from Eastman Kodak Company spent a week in the Allagash country doing location filming for the program, which is a part of Kodak's Prestigious "Legacy-Americana" series.

Jim Healy, a program production specialist for Kodak, served as unit manager for the film crew. He described the movie, titled "People and Water," as planned to show the fascination and interaction which people have for water.

The Maine segment of the movie will center around the adventures of four canoeists who camp, fish and run whitewater rapids in the Maine wilderness.

The four subjects in the film are Don Wiest, his wife Kate, their son Tim, 17, and a friend, Meg Wolfe, 17. All are from the Rochester, N. Y. area.

The Kodak film crew was made up of Bruce Riggs, director/cameraman, and Bill Douglass, sound specialist. They used a variety of modern filming equipment to document the adventure, including special wireless radio-controlled sound equipment to record the subjects' voices remotely while running exciting whitewater rapids.

Among the highlights of their trip, according to Healy, was the flight by seaplanes from Greenville to Johnson Pond near Allagash Lake. En route they were shown moose, osprey and eagle nests and other wildlife by their bush pilots. The most thrilling sight of all, according to Healy, was Mount Katahdin with its snow-topped peak rising over the new green of the Maine forests.

Other high points included the landing of a three-pound trout (lake trout) on Allagash Lake, and a 17-inch brook trout on Allagash Stream.

Several Maine firms and state agencies provided assistance to the Kodak crew for its filming. Among them were the Old Town Canoe Company of Old Town, which provided four new canoes, paddles and setting poles. L. L. Bean, Inc. of Freeport, Maine, furnished camping gear including tents, special waterproof packs and other equipment.

Squaw Mountain Ski Area at Greenville, which is entering the canoe outfitting business, furnished a guide, Verdel "Casey" La-Casse of Greenville, and handled the outfitting.

The Warden Service of the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Game provided assistance. Coordination for the operation between the firms and agencies was provided by the Promotion Division of the Department of Commerce and Industry.

"People and Water" is one of eight programs in the Legacy-Americana series, which will be released to public television stations by Kodak.

Greenwood City —

— Mrs. Collette Morgan, Correspondent —

Even if I don't go far these days, I realize there's a different world tantalizingly near. It's the world of the miniature. With the naked eye I can see a little of it but with a magnifying glass I can enter. Take a clover blossom for instance; the white one, with the eye alone looks quite insignificant but under the glass I can see an exotic corsage, petals creamy and beautifully curved and many times as big.

A dandelion blossom, which can be found still in places, seems to me under the glass, quite like a lovely dahlia or some type of chrysanthemum.

There are so many flowers even in the little distance from here to the farm. I went there one morning when the sun was still hidden behind clouds so the light had a silvery softness. A haze lay upon the pasture by the pond; cows grazed peacefully.

A family of ducks hurried across the water. For the ducklings; the relief of being in the water was pleasant. They dived, flapped stubby wings, shook themselves, skittered around their mother in excitement. The far shoreline, among the cattail leaves and bur reeds, the luxuriance and depth of foliage of the pond melted into the forest and the division between the land and water was lost.

Later the sun became so hot it cleared the sky clouds. Heat settled like a weight. It surely didn't invite a longer hike today. Not even a breeze to touch the meadow lily, delicately waiting to tinkle its warning at the least disturbance.

The pasture thistle stood on guard; its solitary head sweet scented.

Among the steeple bushes and meadowsweets grew the fragrant pale pink bells of the dogbane dangling from the curved stalks.

By the ditches near home those slender spikes of star-like flowers, swampcandels or yellow loosestrife were abundant. Look closely or again use that glass and you'll note the circle of red spots on the petals.

No real hikes since Frye River, because of rain, heat, and the absence of my hiking companion who is in Montana for a time AND maybe I should add that my energy has not yet fully returned.

However I can see from the curve of beauty which stands between the blue sky and the earth, the spell of whispering woodlands and the bursting clouds of fragrance dipped in dawn.

All around are: "Pansies, lilies, kingcups, daisies, Let them live upon their praises;

Long as there's a sun that sets, Primroses will have their glory; Long as there are violets, There will have a place in story; There's a flower that shall be mine, 'Tis the little celandine!" Wordsworth

Israelson Motor Co., Inc.

In this day and age when every car maker has such a wide selection of models to choose from, it is really difficult for you to decide where to go for a new car. All the companies advertise that their cars are the best, but who is to say which car really is. Obviously all the cars on the market today must have their good points or they wouldn't have survived the ups and downs of the business.

We, therefore, can conclude that the real difference in buying a car is the dealer you buy it from. The ideal dealer to buy a car from offers a fair price on the new unit, as well as an honest dollar for the car you trade in. However, the most important factor is the service that you receive on your new car year after year.

The writers of the 1975 Review would like to point out a dealer that considers the most important part of selling a car the quality service he can offer you after the sale. We are talking about Israelson Motor Co., Inc. on Spruce Street in Rumford, phone 364-4313, dealers for the 1975 Chevrolet and Oldsmobile automobiles. See them today for a new or quality used car, and you'll see why we say "Customer Consideration" is their byword.

HEARING ON NEW
SOCIAL SERVICES DELIVERY
PROGRAM, AUGUSTA, JULY 31

Representatives of more than 500 agencies, private and public, who might be affected by a new social services delivery program of the Maine Department of Health and Welfare have been invited to an open hearing on the program.

Set for 1 to 9 p. m. Thursday, July 31, at the Augusta Civic Center, the session will be devoted to receiving comments on department's Bureau of Human Services plans to implement a $28 million, 21-month program using federal funds from the new Title XX allocation to Maine, plus state, local and private funds on a matching basis.

Joyce S. Harmon, chairperson of the Maine Human Service Council, and St. Rep. Kathleen Watson Goodwin, chairperson of Maine's Committee on Aging, have called the meeting.

The bureau has published a tentative plan that covers such human services as transportation, protection of adults and children, alcoholism treatment, day care, family planning, meals, services to the elderly and other such services.

Title XX allocation for Maine replaces the Title IV and VI funds that come from the Social Security Act. A basic difference is that citizens have a right to participate in the plan to spend the allocated funds, and the meeting is called to be sure adequate opportunity is available.

Deadline for completing a design of the plan is Aug. 15. It can be implemented after Oct. 1.

Copies of the plan are available in all regional offices of the department in Houlton, Bangor, Augusta, Lewiston and Portland and were published the last week in June in Maine daily newspapers for three days.

Agencies can present statements from 1 to 5 p. m., the general public from 6:30 to 9 p. m.

WOODMEN'S CHAMPIONSHIPS

continued from Page One rounds the area. These chainsaws are as important to these competitors as any special piece of sports equipment. All you have to do is watch how carefully they are handled and taken care of by their owners. As each contestant warmed up his saw prior to cutting off three disks from the 20' pine, then shut it off awaiting the countdown, the excitement built. And who wouldn't be excited watching those saws with smoke billowing out of strange looking things called expansion chambers cutting those three disks off in less than 35 seconds, and as little as 15 seconds. Alan Chapman, of Bethel, who designed and built his own super McCulloch did just that. Three cuts in 15 seconds. Ira Stevens, Perkinsville, Vt., also with his own designed and built McCulloch came in with a time of 15.9 seconds. Another 1.3 seconds separated Ira from third place winner Ron Johnson, Jewett City, Conn., who had 17.2 seconds.

To a lot of spectators the chopping event is one of the favorites. That's easy to understand as you watch someone like world champion Sven Johnson, Jewett City, Conn., chop through a 10"x10" sawn timber in 18.7 seconds. Take a good look at those axes and you'll see some more very special care. Matthew Sullivan, Canton, Mass., and Bernard Mollere, Greensboro, Vt., battled it out for second place in a "chop-off". Tied for second place with 19.8 seconds apiece they chopped again. Matthew gained .5 of a second on his second time around giving him the red ribbon and Bernard the third place ribbon.

The final event of the day, tree felling is one of skill more than speed. Stakes placed in the ground by each contestant for this own tree are the targets. The skill comes when the contestant chops the tree and has it go where he wants it to, hitting the stake. Only two contestants of the 15 managed to do this. Alan Chapman, Bethel, and Ray Pulvain, Hardwick, Vt. In this case speed determines the winner. Alan's quick time of 43.7 seconds over Pulvain's time of two minutes, one tenth of a second, won him the trophy. Ira Stevens got third place honors being the next closest to the stake. His tree missed his stake by only 2 1/2" and was chopped in one minute, 21 seconds.

Immediately following the events, awards were given. Dob Doll-off, Oxford Paper Co., awarded first place trophies, and ribbons from 1st to 6th places. Dan Bennett, Woods Division, Brown Co., awarded Ira Stevens with the special Lumberjack of the Day plaque. Throughout the day points were being accumulated by the contestants for this honor. Out of a possible 42 points Ira had accumulated 24. In runner-up position was Alan Chapman with 21 points and Ron Johnson with 17 points for third place overall.

Week in Oxford Co.

At a recent meeting of the Steering Committee of the Old Church on the Hill, Buckfield, it was decided to repair and renovate the windows in the church. Earle Colby accepted the work as a winter project.

The high steeple (more than 100 feet), on the First Baptist Church, Paris Hill, has been painted for the first time in many years. Two Norway painters did the painting. Paul Blacquiere handled a spray can to apply a coating of gold rust-resistant paint on the steel rod with two large globes and weather vane.

The "big top" of the three ring Circus Kirk tent was lifted by a tornado-like wind during a heavy storm Monday. The circus was set up on land owned by the Oxford Bank and Trust Co. near the Norway town line. Tiers of seats were toppled. Robert Cline, an aerialist, was injured. He was taken to Stephens Memorial Hospital. A capacity crowd had attended the matinee having left only a short time before the storm.

Norway High School, class of 1925, held a reunion at the Norway Country Club Saturday. A dinner highlighted the occasion. Donald McAllister served as master of ceremonies.

The class of 1950, Norway High School, held their 25th anniversary reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Clough, Hebron, on Saturday. Gordon Peaco, the original class president presided over the meeting. A new slate of officers was elected. Those attending from the farthest distance were Kenneth Dullea, California, and Stephen Bradeen, Virginia.

DOMBKOWSKI - FROBERG SCORE IN MOLLYCKETT CRITERIUM

Two local residents provided interest and excitement for a large spectator turnout during Saturday's Amateur Bicycle League of America sanctioned bicycle race. Henry Dombkowski took an early command of the Veteran Class to defeat rival Bob Pratt from Buckfield, by a large margin, and Art Froberg riding consistently near the front of the peloton for the entire 25 laps, broke into his final sprint up Main Street for a second place finish in the Senior Division.

Several of the 30 plus starters fell victim to spills, flat tires and mechanical failure as the race progressed for 20 miles around the eight tenths of a mile circuit up Main Street, to Broad Street, and on to Mason Street, to Chapman Street, and through the fast, tough turn back onto Main Street.

The Peloton working well together with riders first pulling then drafting in echelon fashion managed to hold an average speed of about 23 m. p. h. for the distance.

Occasional attempts by individual riders to break away were short-lived as they were soon gobbled back by the persistent hard-riding of the pack.

It wasn't until the final sprint up Main Street that Neil Santarre from Wilton, N. H., riding for the Merrimack Valley Cycle Club, was able to pull from out of the pack and to the front to win by a bike length. Santarre's time was 53:07 and he received the winner's $25 Savings Bond.

Several other generous prizes were provided by the Bethel Lions Club to the top riders in each class.

SCHOOL BUS DRIVERS SAFETY CONFERENCE IN BANGOR, AUG. 14-15

The Maine School Transportation Association and The Maine State Department of Educational and Cultural Services are co-sponsoring a statewide School Bus Drivers' Safety Conference on Aug. 14 and 15 in Portland Hall, Bangor Community College, Bangor. The workshop begins at 10 a. m. on Aug. 14.

The conference, titled "Summons To Safety" is directed to every school system and bus operation, public and private throughout the state. Key people involved in specifying, selecting and controlling equipment will be on hand to provide information and displays will be set up at the Bangor City Bus Garage by interested suppliers of equipment for use in transportation of school children in the state of Maine.

The program includes a panel discussion in which a lawyer, superintendent, board member, parent, student and representative from the State Police will participate. Driver competition will feature one driver from each district who will demonstrate driving skills. The maneuvers used to test the operator's skill will be taken from the Division of Motor Vehicle Driving Examination, "School Bus Drivers Examination Manual". A bus check, pupil pickup, emergency evacuation, cars passing stopped bus, car crash and discharge, and return to storage are subjects to be covered in "A Day In The Life of a Bus Driver" program.

Bus demonstrations will include the skid trial and bus drivers' simulator and a skill driving program will be presented. Awards for drivers' skills will be presented at the conclusion of the conference.

Total cost of attending the conference is $15 per person, including room and board and the registration fee.

Anyone wishing to reserve display space should contact Stanley E. Wiley, Lake Region High School, Naples, Maine.
